No Visible Sign of Life Seen by TWA Pilot Who Flies Over Entire Area

Describes Lifeless, Desolate Scene of Snow, Ice and Destruction; Communication Lines Down

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25 (AP)—A lifeless, desolate scene of snow, ice and destruction was seen today by the crew of the first TWA plane to fly over the icebound Texas Panhandle since a storm halted southwestern air travel Friday.

No visible sign of life throughout the entire Panhandle region; no cars on highways; no trains seen operating, radioed Captain Harry Campbell of Kansas City, airline pilot, from Albuquerque to his headquarters here.

The entire area from Pampa, Tex., to Otto, fifty miles East of Albuquerque, is covered with from six to twenty inches of snow, lying on a three-inch base of solid ice, Campbell reported. "All telephone and telegraph lines are down between Pampa and Adrian, Tex., fifty miles west of Amarillo."

Reports Huge Snow Drifts
"We saw no stalled motor cars, but there are huge snow drifts all along the highways."

Over Amarillo we saw a few lights in the downtown business section, but none in residential districts. All radio towers, telephone and telegraph poles around Amarillo appeared toppled over from the weight of ice and are blocking the roads. It looks like a three-day job to clear the highways.

BROOKSHIRE, Tex., Nov. 25 (AP)—At least seven persons were feared drowned in this area tonight. Constable G. W. Martin said, when two homes were washed away by Brazos river flood waters.

Two coast guard ships and twenty volunteer workers, the constable said, were looking for the missing persons.

Those unreported were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mueller and their three children, ranging in age from seven to thirty, and members of a family named Smith.

Constable Martin did not know how many persons were in the Smith family.

The Brazos near Brookshire, which is thirty miles West of Houston, was far out of its banks, Martin said, and was expected to rise ten feet more by tomorrow morning. The river was reported forty feet deep at some points, he said.

Amarillo Is Wrecked
TUCUMCARI, N. M., Nov. 25 (AP)—A railroadman arriving from Amarillo tonight said the Texas Panhandle city looked as if it had been hit "by an air raid" after it was isolated by intense sleet storms Sunday.

S. M. Beaver, Rock Island trainman, said he left Amarillo at 4:30 p. m. (Central Standard Time) but that no other trains were leaving. "It was just like an air raid. It's almost impossible to describe how (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

DALLAS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Rising temperatures brought a new menace—falling blocks of ice—to harass Amarillo tonight while new flood crests inundated extensive areas to the south.

A 10-inch rain in twenty-four hours was one of the heaviest in Galveston's history.

AFL Convention Voted To Increase Green's Salary to $20,000

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention today voted to raise president Green's salary from $12,000 to $20,000 annually, and that of George Meany, secretary-treasurer, from $10,000 to $18,000.

The vote came on the Law committee's report after debate of an hour.

Editor's note: The following story, written for the Associated Press and the Daily Oklahoma by Jack Sittion, staff member of the Amarillo Globe-News, was relayed from an Amarillo short wave radio station to an amateur station in Lubbock, Tex., operated by Lester Pratt, who in turn relayed it to A. C. Inc., an amateur radio operator in Oklahoma City. A portion of the story was relayed from Gage, Okla., by Harry F. James, another amateur radio operator, when interference made it impossible for him to receive either Lubbock or Amarillo.

AMARILLO, Tex., Nov. 25—Amarillo, a city of 52,000 in the Panhandle of Texas has completed a day and night with no water, lights or power.

The city is almost as isolated as was Admiral Byrd at the South Pole. The only means of communication with the outside is by short wave radio.

City Is Isolated
Amarillo is isolated. Ice by the tons has snapped down every tree in the city, has leveled 1200 telephone poles, has cut off the city power, paralyzed the water supply which is pumped electrically.

Ice started Friday night. Communications and highway travel were crippled severely by Saturday night, and complete isolation closed in Sunday morning.

The wires are coated with ice weighing fifty pounds per foot. Telephone poles have snapped like match sticks and the crossarms (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Andrews Chosen New Premier of Northern Ireland

Elevated To Succeed Viscount Craigavon, who Dies Suddenly

By The Associated Press
BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 25 (AP)—John Miller Andrews, 69-year-old Deputy Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, was elevated to prime minister today to succeed Viscount Craigavon, who died unexpectedly last night.

Lord Craigavon, bitter foe of proposals for union of Southern Ireland (Eire) with Northern Ireland (Ulster), had been the first and only prime minister since the Ulster government was formed in 1921. His death was believed due to a heart attack.

Andrews has also opposed union proposals, but some observers expressed belief there now might be a remote possibility of a stronger move for unification. It has been suggested that under such a program, the six (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

London Enjoys Most Restful Night Since Early in September

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Nov. 26 (Tuesday)—With Nazi raiders held back by heavy mists in Northern France, London last night and early today enjoyed one of its most restful nights since the Germans opened their intensive night raiding early in September.

Londoners ate their dinner undisturbed and there had been no night alarm up to midnight.

The empire capital had one brief alert period around midday Monday but, it was officially said, the raiders got no nearer than the outskirts of the city.

(Berlin authorities said bad weather hindered day attacks on England. They added that only solitary planes attacked London and South England and no air fights were reported.)

The Air and Home Security Ministries said several houses were damaged in an attack on a Kent coast town but that the number of people injured was low.

Vulfee Factory Dispute Cause Of Angry Debate In Committee

Meeting Called for Today To Go over the Entire Situation; Hoffman Warns of Sabotage

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Possible legislation to curb strikes in defense industries was discussed by members of the Judiciary committee today after an hour's house session devoted almost exclusively to critical comment on work stoppage in plants having army and navy orders.

Chairman Sumners (D-Tex.) and a half-dozen other members met informally to talk over the question. Afterward, Sumners said he had called a meeting of the committee for tomorrow to "go over the whole situation."

He said it was possible that the committee might ask congress to enact legislation to outlaw defense strikes.

The House discussion was touched off by Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) who demanded that congress "outlaw all strikes against the government."

Several other members denounced strikes in defense industries as "sabotage."

Voorhis Urges Caution
Representative Smith (D-Va.) said "Let's do something about it," and Sumners declared that persons responsible for strikes should be given "a double dose" of the "kind of violence they understand."

Representative Voorhis (D-Calif.), however, sounded a note of caution saying any attempt to curb strike leaders might unjustly punish the rank and file of labor.

Representative Ford (D-Calif.) attributed California strikes to "the programs of Communism by the CIO" and Representative Costello (D-Calif.) said the spread of strikes in his state "looks like an organized program."

Cox declared that "the most shameful thing that has happened to this government in a long time is the strikes that are now in progress against the government, and the next most shameful thing is adjournment of congress from day to day without doing anything about it."

He referred to the current series of three-day house recesses.

Demanding to know why Democratic leaders said there was no business to transact while there is the sabotage of the defense program," Cox recalled that Congress had appropriated billions for defense, and asserted that "labor racketeers" were responsible for current strikes.

"How much longer must the coddling of this vermin be tolerated?" he asked.

British Leader Appeals for Planes; Tells of Sacrifices for Defense

By JAMES MARLOW
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25 (AP)—A British labor leader, appealing for "planes, planes and more planes," today said German bombings have become so intense they are affecting "our output," and added that American labor can defeat Germany "without firing a shot."

Sir Walter Citrine, executive secretary of the British Trades Union Congress, which is a counterpart of the American Federation of Labor, told the AFL convention:

"I say to you something that no British statesman has yet said: Bombing is having an effect upon our output. Speed is of the essence now as never before because our output cannot keep upon full schedule because of the bombings."

Troops Reach Argirocastro, Main Italian Base, in Southern Albania; RAF Fliers Make Heavy Daylight Raids

A 'GREEK CORRIDOR' NEXT!

Dispatches from Sofia, Bulgaria, to Rumania predicted that Bulgaria soon would present demands to Greece for an area (shaded) which might be used by German troops going to the aid of Italy in Greece. The shaded area was lost by Bulgaria after the World war, and is of great strategic importance along the Aegean sea and in the Dardanelles area.

At the same time, Royal Air Force headquarters in Greece announced heavy daylight raids were carried out yesterday by RAF bombers on Durazzo, described by the RAF as the "only important port on the Albanian coast."

10,000-Ton Ship Hit
The RAF said direct hits were scored on shipping, including two hits on a 10,000-ton ship.

The Greek forces pursuing the Italians across Albania were reported in advices from the front to be about to take Argirocastro. The entry into the Southern Italian base, the last remaining to the Fascists in that sector, was reported yesterday, just four days following the capture of Koritza, Northern base of Premier Mussolini's back-firing invasion of Greece.

A government spokesman said the Greeks were pushing ahead despite a lack of good roads and were capturing more equipment.

Many Italians Isolated
Below the threatened Southern base, a large number of Italians virtually have been isolated, the Greeks reported, in the fast-developing, "full-fledged counter-offensive" which they declare is aimed at throwing the Fascists out of Albania altogether.

At this end of the curving 100-mile battlefield the Greeks said the Fascist troops were fighting fiercely against forces threatening to back them up against the Adriatic coast.

Additional Greek columns were thrusting toward Premeti, East of Argirocastro, and on the Central front the Italians were said to have abandoned their fortifications on Mount Ostrovitza.

On the Northern front, where the Greeks have driven their deepest salient in the Pogradet area, the Greeks declared the Italians were retreating so fast their cavalry was unable to catch up with them. Pogradet is twenty-five miles North of Koritza and more than thirty miles inside Albania.

Coupled with the Greek's proclaimed aim of wresting the whole of Albania from Mussolini was a possible plan for Greek-British seizure of Italy's strategic Dodecanese islands, lying between Southeast Greece and Turkey.

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, Nov. 25 (AP)—German long range batteries on the "invasion coast" scored hits on several ships of a convoy off England's East coast tonight, authorized source said, and forced the convoy to seek safety in the Port of Dover.

The shelling was reported after German observation fliers brought back from Bristol reports that that important port in Western England was "enveloped in smoke broken here and there by glaring flames."

The Southern portion of the port, which German military authorities say is a heavy receiver of vital supplies from the United States was reported especially hard hit.

Reconnaissance pilots said they counted at least forty-five large fires in the wake of raids in which the Germans declared they poured 700,000 pounds of explosive and 10,000 incendiary bombs on the city.

Logan-Walter Bill To Be Considered By the Senate

Senators Vote 34 to 21 To Take up Much-Disputed Legislation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Disregarding the vigorous objections of the majority leadership, the Senate voted today to take up the much-disputed Logan-Walter bill, designed to give the courts increased authority to review and set aside the decisions of such governmental agencies as the labor board and Security Commission.

With scarcely more than a quorum present, the vote was thirty-four to twenty-one. Republican members voted solidly to give the measure a hearing, and were joined by fifteen Democrats. All the twenty-one opposing ballots were cast by Democrats.

Second Defeat for Leaders

It was the second successive defeat dealt out to congressional leaders since the presidential election. Last week the House rejected a proposal for adjournment. In that case, too, numerous Democrats aligned themselves with a solid bloc of Republicans.

The Senate's decision gave the champions of the Logan-Walter measure their first success in a nineteen-month effort to get the measure before the Senate. It has been passed by the House. Predictions have been made that if it is passed by the Senate it will be vetoed by President Roosevelt.

Confident of enough Senate votes to pass the measure, its proponents are nevertheless not at all certain that they can obtain a final vote before the end of the year and the convening of the new Congress. Unless this is done, the bill must start from scratch again.

Several senators deeply opposed to the bill were reported to be ready to introduce the anti-lynching bill as a rider.

At the outset of today's session, held in the tiny original Senate chamber while the Senate's usual quarters are undergoing renovation, a quorum call showed forty-nine senators, exactly a quorum, present. Six more appeared for the vote. Any time the number drops below forty-nine, no business can be transacted.

Barkley Urges Delay

In a brief discussion preceding the vote, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, urged that action be deferred until next year. He said that nearly half the Senate was absent, and that the chamber was in no mood to legislate. By next year, he added, a committee appointed by the attorney general to make recommendations for such legislation would have reported.

In reply, Senator Hatch (D-NM) said that the argument was the same that had been advanced for a year and a half. Senator Clark (D-Mo) contended there was no assurance that the report of the committee would be laid before the Senate.

Refugee Ship Loaded With Wandering Jews Explodes and Sinks

HAIFA, Palestine, Nov. 25 (AP)—The refugee steamer Patria, packed to the gunwales with 1,771 wandering, homeless Jews, exploded and capsized in Haifa harbor today with an undetermined but possibly heavy loss of life.

The refugees, who had sought illegally to settle in Palestine, had been placed aboard for transportation to some other British colony for the duration of the war.

Cause of the explosion was not determined.

Many of those aboard managed to swim ashore, but an official announcement said that "some casualties" were feared.

The refugees had been aboard the ship since last Thursday, waiting to start their voyage as soon as authorities deemed conditions in the Mediterranean to be reasonably safe.

Jewish immigration to Palestine was forbidden in June, 1939, when the British colonial secretary asserted there was an organized attempt to thwart the usual immigration quota law.

Townsend is the son and secretary of United States Senator John G. Townsend, Jr., of Delaware. He was on his way from Washington to his hunting lodge at Scott's Landing on Chincoteague bay when his automobile struck a soft shoulder in the road and overturned.

Factory Employment and Payrolls In Maryland Continue To Increase

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25 (AP)—For the seventh consecutive month, reflecting an industrial boom which has all but drained Maryland's skiller labor reserves, factory employment and payrolls in the state showed sharp gains in October, the State Department of Labor and Statistics reported today.

Coincidental with a plea for job applicants, sent out by the State Employment Service, the labor department reported employment up 13 percent and payrolls boosted 23 percent last month, with the average hourly pay rate nearly hitting sixty cents.

During the last seventeen years, the average change from September to October has been less than a tenth of one percent in both payrolls and jobs, state labor statistics showed.

The October report was based on figures supplied by 605 manufacturers in the state employing 114,354 persons whose combined weekly earnings amounted to $3,119,706.

Director David L. B. Fringer of the State Employment Service said today his organization's active file was down to 32,000—lowest in its history and comparable to a peak of 150,000 applicants in January, 1938.

"The situation is rapidly becoming serious," Fringer said. "Virtually any skilled worker who walks in our office can walk out with a job—provided he can pass a physical examination."

If there's anybody in Baltimore able and willing to work, within the age limits, physically qualified, and possessed of some skill, the chances are ten to one we can do business with him. That's how things stand just now."

Officials conversant with the situation expressed fear of a possible labor shortage. In a number of county seats, employers reported acute situations as a result of a rush of rural workers for well-paid jobs on national defense projects.

Indicative of demands for skilled labor, October statistics showed among other increases that employment in the plumbing supply industry was up ninety-one percent over 1939; electrical machinery jobs were up more than seventy percent; employment in aircraft and parts factors jumped 133 percent over September figures.

the AFL opened the final week of its two-week meeting.

"How long we can continue, depends not merely upon our will but also upon the will to hit back," he declared. "The only thing the Nazis understand is the power to make them suffer."

He said the three present aims of the British Labor party are to prosecute the fight with "inflexible resolve," safeguard the rights of the citizenry and widen the range of the movement.

Appealing for speeded production of war supplies in this country, Sir Walter said "American labor can conquer the Nazis without firing a shot. I want you to make your workshops the first line of defense for all democracy."

Although British labor in the recent emergency has relinquished the right to strike, Sir Walter said it is determined to prevent bureaucracy because "we are not going to have tinpot Hitler built up in our constitution during the course of the struggle we are making against Hitler."

Unless democracy is intelligent enough to perceive means of speed and action, he said, it is impossible "for us to combat dictatorship."

Great Britain has never been threatened by such dangers as those now assailing it, he continued, and "never before have we had such a magnificent response from a neighbor, such as you gave us."

Denying that any aristocracy, whether of birth or wealth, has the right to rule, Sir Walter declared:

"In our country we have used the instrument of taxation to effect a very extensive redistribution of the wealth of the country. We have succeeded in putting the burdens on the backs of those the broadest to bear it."

Hamburg Docks Bombed Again By British Fliers

Fires and Explosions Are Started as RAF Pilots Make Two Attacks

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 25—British bombers shuttled over Hamburg in two attacks last night and early today, dropping "many tons" of explosives and nearly 2,000 incendiaries in a shattering, fiery raid on shipyards where German naval vessels are turned out, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

In the first raid, between 7 and 8 p. m., several British pilots reported they emptied their bomb racks at the same time and observed "a good number of fires and explosions."

At 4 a. m. today they were at it again and this time they said more bursts were seen in the vast acreage of the Blohm and Voss Shipbuilding Yards, by now a frequent target.

Other Raids Made

"The reason for so many raids on this one objective," the Air Ministry News Service explained, "is that no one raid could destroy more than part of the shipyards and it is certain the Germans will have been making every effort to repair the widespread damage we know already has been done."

Coupled with this raid were others on Harburg, southwest of Munich, where fires and explosives were said to have been set off in the important Nord Deutsche Chemical Works; Wilhelmshaven, where bombs were aimed at the frequently attacked dockyard; and the Dutch port of Den Helder, where returning pilots told of watching a dockside warehouse collapse in the glare of bursting bombs.

Still more British formations, completing a weekend of trip hammer blows from Berlin to Turin, Italy, blasted the Nazi-held French coast for more than an hour. The Boulogne area bore the brunt.

Taking up where the fliers left off, British coastal batteries threw a screaming barrage across the channel this morning and again tonight and the coast of Boulogne to Cap Gris Nez was alight with exploding shells.

The Germans took up the challenge both times and plumped shells into the Dover area, seeking to silence the British guns and perhaps attempting to hit a British convoy which passed through the channel just before dusk.

Italian Ship Hit

In another raid yesterday on Durazzo, Albanian port, by planes of the RAF command in Africa, a direct hit was reported on a 10,000-ton Italian ship and a smaller vessel in the harbor.

British naval sources said today the RAF's recent bombing of warships in Taranto harbor had forced the Fascist navy to withdraw the major portion of its fleet from the badly damaged port to an undisclosed place of greater safety.

Aerial photographs disclosed only three battleships, eight cruisers, and nine destroyers were left in Taranto whereas the total strength at the time of the attack Nov. 11 was six battleships, ten cruisers, twenty-seven destroyers and a large number of submarines, they said.

Meanwhile, General Charles De Gaulle, leader of "Free French" forces, returned to London and conferred with Prime Minister Churchill on the war in Africa.

Later, De Gaulle declared in a broadcast to the French people that the Greek successes, the RAF's blow at Taranto and developments in Libya, Egypt and Ethiopia should make the French grateful that they had been "deprived of a glorious part in the eventual victory."

The French air force and navy, intact at the time of the "armistice betrayal," could have played a paramount part in these actions, he said.

Heavy Mists

dropped also on the South coast and at two other points in South-east England.

A Dornier seventeen bomber crashed and burned on a Southwest coast field while limping home, it was said, from the raid Sunday night on a West coast town.

Many bombers were reported from the West coast last night. The attack Sunday night was carried out by almost continuous relays of bombers. A home for the aged, two churches, two theaters and several shops were reported hit.

Many residents were attending services when the raid started. They remained at the churches for six hours, singing hymns while the bombs crashed.

(Berlin reports said the town was Bristol, important English port.)

wires had been down almost twenty-four hours.

Debris was littered over the city streets. Telephone and telegraph lines were down over sixteen North-western Texas counties and in portions of adjacent states.

Five Texas rivers, the Sabine, Trinity, Brazos, Colorado and Guadalupe, were on rampages.

Whole families sought safety in tree tops as flash floods swept away homes, farm buildings, livestock and poultry.

Red Cross workers were ordered from Houston to the flood area around Sealy, Tex., where trapped farmers tried distress guns to guide rescue boatsmen before dawn.

Coast Guard boats and equipment were ordered 100 miles inland from Galveston to aid in rescue work.

Highways were inundated. Bridges were damaged and 1,000 motorists were marooned at Conroe, where twenty-one inches of rain had fallen.

Twenty-three major state and federal roads were closed or partly closed by high water.

Still it rained. The tri-state area of Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas around Taxarkana and Shreveport was deluged.

As the rain fell, ground temperatures remained slightly below thirty-two degrees, freezing the water as fast as it fell. As the storm continued, the ice formations became heavier, pulling down wires, poles and clogging highways.

Warm Clothing Needed

A short wave radio broadcast heard at Albuquerque, N. M., said Mayor Rogers of Amarillo had appealed for WPA relief and rehabilitation funds.

A call for overshoes and warm clothing also was broadcast.

Bill Wilson, Amarillo News Globe staff man, drove eighty miles to Plainview to telephone an account of the ice storm. A Braniff airplane plane was taken from its hangar to furnish power for a short wave radio station.

Hospitals used old-fashioned kerosene lamps when the power went off. Stores sold out of candles.

Weather experts said tonight more rain would fall and the temperature would drop with little chance of a thaw in the frozen Panhandle for hours.

Seven Motorists Killed

No deaths were attributed directly to the storm but seven motorists were killed in wrecks while it was worst in and an unidentified duck hunter was drowned in West Galveston bay while Coast Guardsmen rescued his two companions, Ed and Michael Licada.

Wharton, Columbus, Sealy, Chapel Hill, Cameron, Lagrange, Richmond, Cleveland, Liberty, Victoria and Cuero, all towns fifty miles up from the coast lay in the path of the flooding waters.

Cowboys in boats rode herd on livestock.

Millions of acres of rich farmlands were standing in water. Most crops had been harvested but there was some loss.

Power line crews in the Panhandle, some gathered from 600 miles away, labored to restore lines that snapped when the wires became huge horizontal icicles five inches in diameter.

A woman called a central fire station. She had walked a mile looking for a telephone that worked. She was crying, almost hysterical.

"What shall I do? My lights are out. The water is off. The telephone doesn't work. My husband is out of town. We are strangers, and I am afraid to stay by myself."

"Could you send someone to stay with me?"

Short wave radio at the Amarillo Globe-News has asked for dozens of carloads of old wire, poles and other supplies, lanterns and candles.

City officials have asked for 200 disaster relief men and fifty trucks. Emergency crews are en route from Oklahoma City, Lawton and Dallas and Wichita Falls, Texas.

Damage here will run into many millions.

The standard gauge of railways is four feet 8 and one-half inches.

Abolition of 15 County Almshouses In State Proposed by Commission

Eight Maryland Men Rejected In Baltimore

Draftees Physically Unfit for Service in Army, Officer Says

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25 (AP)—Eight of Maryland's initial quota of thirty-five draftees men who reported here today for a year's military training were rejected for physical disabilities, and Lt. Col. E. H. M. Gist, medical officer in charge, said local boards would have to furnish alternates "immediately."

Much delay was encountered at the Baltimore induction center, and army officers attributed it to failure of state local boards to follow written instructions sent when the program first got under way. Most of the difficulty encountered was in physical examinations.

Officers said other rejections might follow after complete studies of X-rays are made.

Colonel Gist said he was "surprised and disappointed" at the percentage of rejections necessary due to physical reasons, and said "the local draft boards that sent these men to us certified as Class 1-A will have to furnish alternates immediately."

"The men rejected today have been transferred to Class 1-B, which means they are fit for limited service only, and it is doubtful whether they ever will be recalled. The names of the men will not be made public."

The first two to arrive, from Baltimore Local Board No. 2, were Edward S. Krzystynski, ex-coast guardsman and steel-worker, and Jerry Block, unemployed.

Both were volunteers. Krzystynski promptly asked Maj. R. A. Barth, head of the induction station, where he would be sent.

"I don't care where it is, so long as it's far away," he added.

All the men underwent rigid physical tests and were X-rayed. Because the X-ray plates had to be examined by Marine hospital experts, only half of the group finally was routed on to Fort Meade tonight. The rest were quartered overnight in a downtown hotel.

They will be sent to Meade tomorrow morning, officers said.

The men reporting today were the first of a group of 157 who will enter training during the next three days. Today's routine set the procedure which the others will follow, and which will be repeated again and again until a total of 12,564 Marylanders are in training by next June 30.

AFL Council

1937 as a war chest against the Congress or Industrial Organizations, was abolished.

Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, was defeated in his proposed amendment that any union suspended by the council be allowed to appear with its full voting strength before the convention.

The protest against the officials' salary increases was made by John P. Burke, president of the International Pulp and Sulphite Workers, who asked that Green's pay be raised only from $12,000 to $15,000 and Meany's from $10,000 to $12,000.

Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit Federation of Labor, said that as now constituted the Executive Council is "judge, jury and last court or resort" for any suspended union.

Green, who finished the debate, told the delegates:

"We can't confer on a suspended union the right of conferring with the jury the question of its guilt or innocence. No one ever heard of anyone sitting in with the jury deciding its fate."

He asserted the council, by stripping itself of the power to suspend a single union, was keeping his promise to Dubinsky but that at a later session the body decided it needed the authority to take action against any pair or more of conspiring unions.

tree and shot them. He turned us back with hand grenades and guns. We had no automatic weapons. We were outnumbered and lost."

"What I have seen today confirms that the Greeks are fighting like lions while the Italians, unwilling to give battle, are fleeing or surrendering all along the front."

"Stories of booty left behind are not exaggerated. The amount so great it literally clogs the roads. I counted as many as twenty-three Italian trucks, seven or eight tanks and motorcycles and bicycles by the hundreds over a distance of thirty miles."

"There is no regular front. The soldiers stay at their posts night and day. They eat and sleep where they are."

Bulgaria Will Not Join Axis At the Present

Pause in Diplomatic Campaign Is Indicated by Berlin Sources

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Nov. 25—Bulgaria, long viewed as a likely convert to the Axis lineup, is staying out, for the present at least, informed Nazi sources indicated today.

This disclosure came with a surprise statement by these sources that the signatures of Hungary, Rumania and Slovakia to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact ended the present series of additions.

Authorized quarters hinted, nevertheless, that Adolf Hitler's diplomatic maneuvers, which already have covered most of the continent, will continue.

They added that the fact Bulgaria is not expected to join up at the time has nothing to do with developments in Turkey.

(Official circles in Sofia, Bulgarian capital, expressed belief the Berlin statement meant the Balkan Kingdom had won a "breathing spell" in its struggle against being rushed into the Axis.)

(There was unexplained relief in Sofia, where a high government official's reaction was that "it appears certain to us Bulgaria will not be involved in war this winter.")

(Diplomatic circles in Sofia are in the developments an indication that Hitler and Joseph Stalin are not eye to eye on division of German and Russian spheres of influence. The Bulgarian argument against joining the Axis was believed generally to have been inspired by the Russians.)

The Nazi informants said the second round of signatures to the Axis pact had been completed, the first having been the original signing by Germany, Italy and Japan, and the second the adherence of Hungary, Rumania and Slovakia the past week.

Furthermore, they said all reports of an early Bulgarian state visit had been of foreign, not German, origin.

The belief was expressed in foreign diplomatic quarters that Bulgaria's signature would seem untimely at a moment when that country is faced with a political crisis. (Soviet dispatches have indicated dissension within the Bulgarian government over the question of signing.)

Question of

resources in this country, including British property holdings.

Nye declared that he believed the groundwork was being laid to "open avenues of credit to Great Britain" and said that "we should jealously guard against taking that step until it has been definitely ascertained that Great Britain is coming to the end of her financial rope."

He expressed the belief that investigation would disclose that was not the case and that the British "have now just begun to draw on their resources here."

Lord Lothian, who has been away for six weeks, said he gave President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull a report on conditions in Great Britain and that they discussed the world situation in general.

Defines British Needs

Asked if his report on British position was optimistic, the ambassador replied:

"In elaborating, he said he had defined British needs in earlier interviews as 'planes, munitions, ships and finances.' In his talks today, however, he said he did not go into details."

His first statement when he emerged from the president's office was:

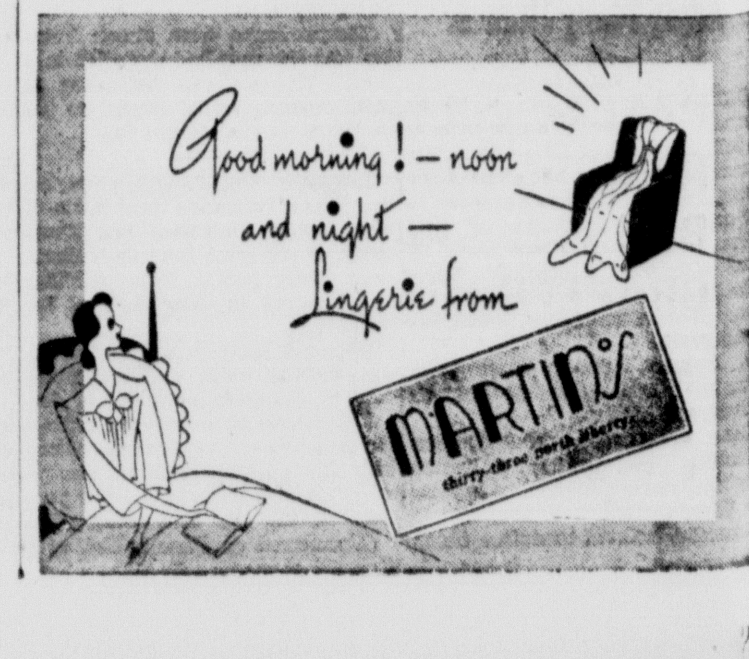

"The president and I never mentioned finances." He made the same statement after his talk with Secretary Hull.

Asked if he would raise the question in later talks, the ambassador said there might be some informal discussion but that the question primarily was one for the Washington government.

California Goes To Work On the Play Suit Business

By AMY PORTER
AP Feature Service Writer

No matter where you go for a winter vacation, you'll take California with you.

For dancing nights in Rio de Janeiro you'll want a California print evening dress—a white one, probably, with red starfish, splattered over it.

For sun-tanning on Florida beaches, you'll want a California swim suit—possibly the new kind made like a little boy's suit, with wide flaring pants instead of a skirt.

For dude-ranching in the southwest or for a visit to Mexico you'll need the brilliant colored cottons and linens California has developed for your leisure days.

Home-grown Industry

There's no doubt this year that California sets the country's styles in play clothes, and manufactures a large share of them, too.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has worked for years to bring California up in the style world, with great success. As late as 12 years ago the nation's styles all were developed in New York and Paris, and Los Angeles produced almost nothing.

Then the Chamber of Commerce, which had done such a good job with California weather, took matters in hand. It established semi-annual market weeks during which it invited buyers from all over the nation to come and view California sports wear.

The Chamber also sent scouts around the country to sell the charms of California to both makers and buyers of sports wear. It set up beautifully decorated "California Shops" in stores everywhere.

At present there are 16 resident buying offices in Los Angeles, representing 650 of the big stores of this country, Canada, England, Australia and South Africa, and it is estimated that they spend more than 18 million dollars a year on California-made clothes.

Harold W. Wright of the Los Angeles Chamber says: "Our growth in the sports field was inevitable. We have glamorous year-round resorts and beaches. We have glamorous Hollywood, whose stars influence styles wherever movies are shown."

"We have designers who long ago threw off European style shackles, and dared to make truly original clothes."

What To Expect

This winter, and next spring, look out for California tunic dresses, decorated with scroll applique; California tennis dresses, tied in at the waist with a drawstring; California overalls and California play dresses, splashed with tropical print designs.

NYA Aids 1,066 College Students In Maryland

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—The National Youth Administration has estimated its program is enabling 1,066 Maryland youths to continue their college studies.

Maryland has a monthly allotment of $15,990 under the present NYA program, it said, and yearly allotment of $141,000.

Aid is being given 150,000 undergraduates and graduates throughout the nation, the report said.

The average monthly wage is $13.46 to undergraduates, and $21.78 to graduate studies. Payments are made from the NYA's $13,713,225 fund for the 1940-41 academic year, the report added.

Lenient Punishment Sought for Conscientious Draft Objectors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—More "lenient" punishment than the year and a day sentences recently imposed upon eight divinity students in New York for failure to register for the draft was urged today by the National Committee on Conscientious Objectors.

The committee, an affiliate of the American Civil Liberties Union, termed the sentences "extremely severe" in that they deprived the students of their citizenship.

"These men did not seek to evade the draft," the committee's Chairman Ernest Angell wrote Attorney General Jackson, "but presented themselves to their draft boards and then on the grounds of conscientious opposition to conscription, declined to fill out the prescribed forms. Even in the World War the maximum sentence for a similar offense under the Wartime Draft Act is a fine up to $25, x x x

"Parole and an assignment to some work of national importance of those who in other occupations are liable for military service would seem preferable to the imposition of jail sentences and the requirement that they be actually served."

The committee said its membership included among others Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick of New York; Dean Christian Gauss of Princeton; Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina; and Bishop Edward L. Parsons of California.

Ski Troops Will Be Trained on 14,408 Foot Mount Rainier

MOUNT RAINIER, Wash., Nov. 25 (AP)—Ski-shod soldiers have made a reconnaissance of 14,408-foot Mount Rainier to prepare for the training of ski troops patterned after Finland's famed snow warriors.

The soldiers, part of the Forty-first Division called up last September for a year's training, were a segment of a ski club formed at Camp Murray last month "for recreational reasons."

Faint Rallying Appearance Noted On Stock Exchange in Quiet Buying

Favorites Lifted Fractions to Two Points in Forenoon; Gains Are Cut

By FREDERICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—Quiet buying of steel and selected industrial gave the stock market a faint rallying appearance today but many leaders were unable to make a showing.

Favorites were lifted fractions to two points in the forenoon, but at the close extreme gains were cut or converted into declines in numerous instances.

Transfers totaled 321,260 shares, smallest turnover for a full session since Oct. 28. Last Friday's volume aggregated 714,050 shares.

Increased and extra dividends, together with expectations of higher earnings, aided a number of issues. Earnings statements generally, remained cheerful along with most business items. War news apparently was a secondary influence in the day's speculative shifts.

Steel seemingly was propped by the ability of production to maintain a record peak.

Among stocks ending on the up-side were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Texas Corp., American Smelting, American Can, Eastman Kodak and others.

Losers included General Electric, Dow Chemical, Philip Morris, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, North American, United States Rubber, common and preferred.

Holding improvements of as much as two points in the Curb were Aluminum of America, Both Iron Works, Bell Aircraft, Coils Patent, Fire Arms, Humble Oil and American Export Lines. Minor losses were posted for Brewster Aero, American Cyanamid, "B," Electric Bond & Share, International Petroleum and New Jersey Zinc. Trades were around 126,000 shares versus 133,000 in the previous full session.

'Northwest Mounted' Continues at Strand

Starring Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll and boasting a supporting cast including Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman, George Bancroft and Walter Hampden and Lon Chaney Jr., Cecil B. DeMille's production in Technicolor of "North West Mounted Police" is breaking all previous box office records at the Strand theater. It continues through Thursday.

Set in the period when Canada was threatened by a civil war of its own as thousands of half-breeds revolted against the government, the picture relates a story of the courage which made the Northwest Mounted one of the most respected forces in the world. It tells the love stories of two mounted policemen—one in love with a gallant nurse and the other fascinated by an Indian girl who is about as tame as a tiger.

The story revolves around the effort of the police, aided by an equally gallant Texas Ranger, to quell the rebellion of the half-breeds.

Those two blonde beauties, Alice Faye and Betty Grable, do a "sister act" in their starring roles for "Tin Pan Alley." Keyed to the mood of America, this Twentieth Century-Fox musical starts its engagement Friday at the Strand theater. Jack Oakie and John Payne head the featured cast.

Diamond Mine Backdrop For New Liberty Film

Incredible as it may seem, in all of Hollywood's extensive use of adventurous industrial backdrops the most exciting and colorful had been neglected until Warner Brothers filmed "South of Suez," which stars George Brent. The film opens tomorrow at the New Liberty theater.

For the first time African diamond mining, with all its color of giant-scale operations, jungle work camps, armed guards, worker searches; its hi-jackers and dangers; its daily thrill from uncovering precious gems and its constant lure, the possibility of finding some great new Cullinan or Koh-i-noor or Presidentia Vargas stone, is shown on the screen.

step was to secure diamond mine construction experts. Two months before cameras turned, a collection of experts traveled with the location scouts to Death Valley, seeking the right natural backgrounds. In the San Fernando Valley they found a natural depression resulting from what is called a "volcanic chimney." Old gold mines had been turned into a hill-side gravel pit 400 feet deep in the course of highway-building operations, and the environs of a diamond mine built around it. Every item was authentic, even to the use of clumsy-looking wooden machinery.

Navy Orders 200 "Alligators" for Defense Program

Mechanical Device is Able To Travel on Land and Water

CLEARWATER, Fla., Nov. 25 (AP)—A mechanical version of the Florida alligator, able to travel on land or water with equal ease, is one of the navy's latest additions.

The navy has ordered 200 of the "alligators"—Amphibian tanks— from Donald Roebeling, wealthy young Clearwater contractor whose ancestors acquired fame and fortune from suspension bridges.

The machines can do just anything a real alligator can do except lay an egg.

Specifications of the ones Roebeling will build for the navy have not been disclosed, but two models are being constructed for himself give some idea of what the navy's machines will be like.

The navy isn't telling what the tanks will be used for but a navy spokesman in Washington suggested the machines would be useful in landing operations or in crossing rivers when marines or sailors were engaged in combat on land.

The novel feature of the "alligators" is that they depend on the same equipment for traction on land or water. Traction is supplied through caterpillar treads equipped with extremely wide cleats that act as fins or paddles in mud and water but are close enough to provide fairly smooth transit on land.

Roebeling built his first "Alligator" in 1935.

The later model is an 8,000 pound job, twenty feet long and eight feet wide. It does twenty-five miles an hour on land and eight and a half in the water—and looks like a machine from the Mars either place.

In tests the ponderous vehicle ran from land into water and back again as easily as its animal prototype. Roebeling then tried it in muddy swampland where a land vehicle would bog down and a boat couldn't run. The alligator wallowed along without hesitating. Logs, seaweed, grass, slime—none had any effect. Trees up to eight inches in diameter were battered down.

Community Chest Will Hold Annual Election

Officers and an executive committee to serve during the coming year will be elected at the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Cumberland Community Chest, Thursday, November 28, at 4 p. m., in the chest office, Liberty Trust building.

Meetings of the full board of directors are held four times a year, carrying on the activities of the chest between board meetings.

The meeting has been called by Harold W. Smith, president of the Cumberland Community Chest.

Building permits were issued yesterday by the city engineer for two small construction jobs.

J. G. Reynolds, of 507 Dilley Street, obtained a permit to build a garage with apartment above in the rear of his home. Thomas Wilson is the contractor. Cost is estimated at $875.

Charles W. Harper was granted a permit for the construction of a two-room, two-story frame addition to his home at 704 Patterson avenue at a cost of $300. N. H. Light is the contractor.

Old-Fashioned

there will be plenty of beer to drink for people who like beer. And if you want to smoke your pipe why, it will be all right for that's the kind of a party its going to be.

Cumberland is going to like this Christmas party for its going to be a little different from anything they have experienced in many years. There won't be anything stilted or stiff about it. Its been planned just for the purpose of giving everybody an enjoyable time in a home-spun, simple sort of way.

Triplets To Be Present

Now let's take Wednesday night, for example, and see what the committee has cooked up in the way of entertainment. Well, for one thing, the Smith triplets will be present.

And its going to be fun to see their expressions when they see the six puppies a noted Virginia dog fancier is sending to be auctioned off to the audience. With the triplets and six puppies frisking around the Christmas tree, you have a fairly good start.

There will be the usual group singing and music by Rudy Sullivan on the unusual novachord generously donated for the affair by Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Rathbone.

But, of course, its this matter of "presents" that has already gained the attention of many good housewives who need, say, a vacuum sweeper or $50 worth of free business with a Cumberland store.

1,873 "Presents"

And despite the fact that these 1,873 gift packages will be auctioned off, they are still presents just the same for they will go for a song as the old saying goes—whether its ten cents or a dollar.

And here is a good place to give a little credit where credit is due. For Cumberland merchants are doing yeoman service in making this Christmas party a success.

Two hundred of the packages have a value of $25 or over. Three hundred have a value of $10 or over. This gives you an idea.

Auctioneer will be genial Bill Cramer, of the Kelly-Springfield plant who will knockdown the various gifts to the highest bidder.

The auctioneer will start his duties Saturday night and somebody, possibly Mrs. Jones of North Cumberland, is going to get a new car radio, a sweater, a $50 desk, a new wrist watch, $50 in trade at a store, or perhaps a $50 Silver fox fur, for $1.98.

It sounds sort of ridiculous, doesn't it? But its the truth, so help us. Naturally, Mrs. Jones of North Cumberland is going to be the envy of all her neighbors Sunday morning when she strapes into church in the new fur or casually announces that she has just bought a new vacuum sweeper for $1.98, or perhaps less, who knows.

Mr. Cramer will auction off these gifts at the rate of approximately 150 per night while the Christmas party continues.

Giving Away Money

They are even giving money away in the form of attendance gifts. The banks have kicked through with ten packages of money. This may make a lot of people chuckle in their beards but nevertheless its going to be given away and it came right out of those rock-ribbed vaults.

The music is going to be one of the features of this gay affair. On Monday and Tuesday nights, for instance, the Fort Hill and Allegany high school bands will do the tooting. The community singing will be every night according to Mrs. R. R. Rathbone.

Decorations are in charge of William Newberry, Jr., of the Memorial hospital engineering staff. The giant Christmas tree in the center of the Armory will be the big attraction. Other Christmas trees will augment this Christmas effect and there will be tables and chairs strung around for the convenience of the people.

For Cancer Clinic

Of course, everybody knows this party is for the benefit of the Memorial hospital Cancer Clinic. Everybody knows by this time the great amount of good this clinic does in the community so there's no use going into that.

The plans for the party are now beginning to shape up pretty well. Another meeting was held last night. Members who attended were Mrs. Joseph Lichtenstein, Mrs. Howard Tolson, Mrs. Robert Gerson, Miss Betty Lee Gracie, Mrs. Richard Lowndes, Miss Anne Frances Whiting, Miss Margaret Coulahan, Mrs. Albert Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman, Miss Elizabeth Dickey, Thomas Conlon, Clarence Lippel, Harvey Weiss, William Newberry and William Cramer.

This doesn't do the party that has been planned the justice it deserves but it gives you an idea. Anyway, you had better buy a ticket and come if you weren't planning to. It will remind you of the days when you bobbed for apples in a washtub, strung popcorn chains, and pulled taffy.

Future of Ohio State Football Being Discussed

Many Buckeye Followers Howling for Scalp of Coach Schmidt

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25 (AP)—A free-for-all scrap on the future of Ohio State football and Coach Francis A. Schmidt was on today, with practically everyone in there swinging on one side or the other—but chances are the most pertinent punches were passed in a Lake Erie duck blind.

L. W. St. John, athletic director, and George M. Trautman, alumni member of the athletic board and proxy of the American Association, took off early today on what was slated as a duck hunt, but what probably was just a trip to "get away from it all" so they could discuss quietly the pros and cons of the Buckeye situation.

The wolves started howling for someone's scalp late Saturday, just after the Bucks dropped a 40-0 Big Ten game to Michigan. It was the worst defeat in thirty-five years and as the fourth setback of the year, gave the Ohioans their most disastrous season in more than a decade.

Schmidt, cognizant of the scattered demands that he resign, declined to be stamped.

"I'm still Ohio State's football coach, and until Mr. St. John tells me they don't want me around here anymore, I'm not going to look for another job," the Buckeye mentor and World War Captain declared.

Schmidt is employed on a one-year contract basis.

Some fans want the entire Buckeye athletic department erased and a new start made. Others want Schmidt retained, along with his spectacular style of play, but with new assistants. Others declare Ohio should keep the assistants but get a new head coach.

So certain are some of the fans that Schmidt is through at the Buckeye school that the question "are they going to fire Schmidt?" is giving way to "who will be the new coach?"

Curbsome Coaches "Rib" Friesell and He Is Their President

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25 (AP)—Popular little William H. (Red) Friesell Jr., got the ribbing of his life today at the hands of the Curbsome Coaches Association which he heads.

It was the grid arbiter's first appearance before the association since his famous fifth down incident in the Cornell-Dartmouth game. Cornell scored on the extra down but later conceded defeat.

As soon as speechmaking began today, a messenger interrupted to deliver to Friesell a phony message dated from New Haven:

"Entire student body breathlessly awaiting word from you. Did we really lose? Can't you do something for us?"

It was supposed to be from Yale which lost to Harvard 28-0 with Red doing the refereeing.

Ten minutes later came this fake note from Ohio State, crushed 40-0 by Michigan:

"Wish you had worked our game last Saturday. We needed something."

The referee grinned and took his medicine, all the while admitting he'd lost a down somewhere and still hadn't found it.

into the betting ring to collect bets or make new ones, the workers said they cleared up the territory in front of the grandstand.

Testimony Scored

In final arguments, William A. Gunter and P. Brooke Whiting, defense attorneys, commented at length on Mr. Gallen's "detecting". They referred to the fact that with all the things to look at that day, Mr. Gallen had kept his eye peeled on the heap of empty bottles which eventually resulted in his wife's tumble.

Defense attorneys also commented on the fact that Mrs. Gallen has been able to negotiate three flights of stairs several times a week since her accident to play bingo.

Discounting defense arguments, Simon P. Reilly, counsel for the plaintiff, told the jury, "regardless of what the defense may say, the fact remains that the bottle was on the ground, that Mrs. Gallen stepped on it and that she fell and received serious injuries as a result."

Earlier, defense attorneys had contended that the Fair Association had done everything that "was humanly possible" for the safety of its patrons. Mr. Whiting commented on the fact that Mrs. Gallen had stepped backward without turning around to look where she was going.

Court Sustains Motion

In the original suit asking damages of $25,000, Mrs. Gallen had named Clifton W. White, operator of Faigo concessions, including beer and soft drink privileges, as a defendant.

White, represented by Attorneys J. Hodge Smith and George L. Williamson, was dismissed as a defendant by Associate Judge William A. Huster on the motion of his counsel.

Smith and Williamson contended White could not under any circumstances be considered responsible for any injuries Mrs. Gallen might or might not have received at the track on Cumberland Day. Judge Huster sustained this motion and in instructing the jury stated that no verdict could be returned by them against the concession operator.

500,000 Jews Will Be Placed Behind A Wall in Warsaw

By German Decree They Must Take Up Residence in the Ghetto

BERLIN, Nov. 25 (AP)—Approximately 500,000 Jews will begin tomorrow a new life behind an eight-foot concrete wall built by Germans to enclose the Ghetto district of Warsaw, dispatches from the former Polish capital reported tonight.

By German decree, all Jews in Warsaw have been required to take up residence in the Ghetto, which lies in the Central district of the city. As many as seven persons are living in one room in some buildings.

The Germans built the wall last winter, saying the action was simply a health measure to protect Poles and Jews alike from the pestilences likely to follow total war.

They left eighteen entrances open—but effective tomorrow all persons who wish to enter or leave must have a special pass. This applies also to any Gentile Pole wishing to enter the district temporarily.

The German decree also brought about a wave of frantic purchases outside the Ghetto in an effort to stock up on things which may not be procured within.

The wall—unusual in modern times—surrounds 100 or more city blocks and closes off 200 streets and even street car lines.

The Warschauer Zeitung (Warsaw Times) reports from Radom that another Ghetto has been founded there and the Jewish population ordered to take up residence within it.

LABOR SECRETARY SAYS SHE HAS NOT RESIGNED HER POST

ATLANTA, Nov. 25 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins said tonight a White House statement that she had not submitted her resignation, is "correct."

The New York Times printed a story today saying it had "learned authoritatively" that Miss Perkins had resigned and that President Roosevelt had accepted her resignation.

Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said in Washington Miss Perkins had not submitted her resignation and "the president has not discussed resignation with her."

"The White House denial is correct," Miss Perkins told newspaper men who talked with her on a Southern railway train en route to New Orleans, where she is to address the American Federation of Labor. She dismissed the subject with that brief comment.

In Washington, Secretary Early, when asked if Miss Perkins would continue in her present capacity during the president's third term, said "I don't know anything about continuation of any other phase of it."

Miss Perkins, asked here what her plans were for the future, said "I don't make any plans more than three days ahead of time."

INNOCENCE OF THREE MEN ESTABLISHED AFTER SEVEN YEARS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 25 (AP)—Seven years after they were sent to prison for a crime they did not commit, three men were freed today—their innocence established.

Each received from the state a suit of clothes and $12.60.

Release of the trio, Glenn Davis, 30, Hershel McCarn, 34, and Bill Hathaway, 33, was ordered by the Alabama Board of Pardons and Paroles which said it was convinced convictions resulted from mistaken identity.

The men were sentenced for the $5,237 robbery of the Bank of Berry on Sept. 27, 1933, a robbery which the board said an unidentified man confessed recently and implicated two others.

Davis and McCarn were convicted and sentenced to twenty-five years in prison. Hathaway then pleaded "guilty" and accepted a ten-year sentence.

Mrs. Edwina Mitchell, board member, said the man who confessed recently apparently did so on the pleas of Davis' mother, who never doubted her son's innocence, and a private detective "who worked on the case for seven years."

"We have no bitterness in our hearts," Hathaway told newsmen today. A brick mason by trade, he said he hoped to get a job in Birmingham and resume life with his wife and two sons.

"Pardon me, but I think we've reached a new high!"

Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK Nov. 24 — The autumn of 1940 marks a new low in the state of woman's rights in Europe. Yet in America, on Nov. 25, 26 and 27 women from all over the country are meeting here in New York to celebrate 100 years of unflagging feminine progress.

This meeting is the Woman's Centennial congress, called by the National American Woman's Suffrage Association—and at the head of plans, appropriately is Carrie Chapman Catt, the grand old lady of woman suffrage, at 81, still an active, crusading spirit.

While in Europe women's participation in government and business is almost a lost cause, American women are taking time out to count up the gains of the last 100 years—"The Woman's Century"—that netted them their democratic rights and privileges.

Milestones of Progress
The delegates will pause to consider such historic milestones as: The day in 1841 when Mary Hoadfield, Elizabeth Prall and Caroline Rudd received diplomas from Oberlin college in Oberlin, O. thereby becoming the first women in the world to obtain bachelors degrees from a co-educational college.

Maine, in 1844, becomes the first state to grant married women control of their own property; and a venturesome female instructor, Pauline Wright Davis, uses a manikin for illustrating her physiology lectures. (Whereupon the women either fainted or ran from the room.)

The wrath of clergymen is aroused in 1846 at the first use of anesthetics in childbirth. . . . Woman Suffrage Leader Lucy Stone and Henry B. Blackwell are married in 1835, with the word "obey" omitted from the marriage service, occasioning widespread disapproval. . . .

Wyoming, in 1869, grants full suffrage to women.

Six hundred thousand men and women petition the New York constitutional convention for woman suffrage in 1894.

In 1915 women from 12 of the world's greatest nations meet at The Hague Peace palace for a peace conference.

Jeanette Rankin of Montana becomes the first woman to be seated in congress.

The 19th amendment, giving women the vote, passes congress.

Have Later Leaders

Congress delegates also will have before them the example of outstanding women who have made definite strides forward since women got the vote. For example, Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, the first woman governor; the late Amelia Earhart, first woman to fly the Atlantic; the late Jane Addams, recipient of the Nobel peace prize; Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, first woman to serve in a presidential cabinet; Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, first woman U. S. minister to a foreign country; Judge Florence Allen, first woman appointed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals; and Crystal Bird Fauset, first woman Negro legislator to take office.

But the congress is not chiefly a backward-looking event. The delegates also are meeting to chart a definite course for future advances.

The right of married women to work still is a debatable issue. Women still haven't equal pay for equal work in industry and the professions, nor equal opportunity in politics. It's still up to the women to raise the morals and ethics of the country—and to find the quickest way to end war.

Conference leaders believe that if modern women, fortified with experience and college educations, can do as well in the future as their unqualified predecessors of 1840, the advance will be something worth shouting about.

In official convention language, "the world situation has made more emphatic the need for women to work together, share their ideas and ideals and decide together what in our way of democratic life needs more special understandings if it is to survive."

Meet Three Days

That is what the congress intends to accomplish in its three-day session at Hotel Commodore. High point of the conference program include addresses by outstanding women.

Proposed Health Tests for Draft Army Include One To Detect Tuberculosis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

In preparing for the physical examination of the men of our new army, undoubtedly special attention will be directed towards the detection of cases of tuberculosis.

This will be one of the really constructive results of the preparedness program. Most of the young men in whom tuberculosis is discovered will have no idea that they are otherwise than in the best of health. This fact has been the most insidious and dangerous feature of the disease and the one which, more than anything else, has prevented the saving of lives and the eradication of tuberculosis.

Few Symptoms

If we get it in the early or incipient stage, we can nearly always cure a person with tuberculosis. The trouble in the past has been that it produces so few symptoms that it becomes well developed before anybody is aware that he is sick. The records are full of people who died of "a neglected cold" or something that "ran into tuberculosis." It didn't run into tuberculosis, the tuberculosis was there all the time but only in its late stages began to manifest symptoms.

The best method for rapid and accurate detection of the incipient case is by the use of the x-ray with the flat plate. Undoubtedly this method will be used by the army.

We recited a few weeks ago the experience at the New York World's Fair where a firm offered to take a flat plate of the chest for $1.00 of anyone who applied—in other words, an entirely unselected group of cases. The astonishing result was that 3.3 per cent of those who had the examination were shown to have tuberculosis in some stage or other.

X-Ray Plate New Development

During the last war the army boards used physical examination with a stethoscope; at least they did in the early drafts. The X-ray plate was not well developed in those days. I watched these boards work in noisy rooms under very unfavorable circumstances and I felt that they must have missed many cases.

If the plate method is used I am sure nearly all cases will be discovered and undoubtedly we will have to revise our statistical ideas about tuberculosis.

This method is typical of the endeavors of health authorities at case finding in any community. These endeavors on the part of the boards of health have met with considerable resistance. People do not like to think about the possibility and a wholesale examination is for that reason impractical. If it were done, however, and those with tuberculosis were removed from households where other people might contract the disease from them, we would probably be taking the longest step towards the complete eradication of this disease.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

L. A. A. Toronto, Canada—"What is the percentage of persons getting 100% restored sight after a cataract operation?"

Answer—Dr. Charles H. May, in his textbook on Diseases of the Eye says, "A favorable result and useful vision follow cataract operation in 98 per cent of uncomplicated cases. The outcome depends not only on skillful operation but upon exclusion of those complicated cases which cannot be improved by an operation no matter how skillfully done." The principal complication referred to is whether the cataract has remained too long and the optic nerve degenerated so that vision is gone anyway.

Game Scarcity, Proposed Increase In License Cost Hit by Hunters

Sportsmen of Midland Area Threaten Boycott on License Sales

MIDLAND, Nov. 25 — Hunters of this section have been very critical because of the lack of game to be found this year. Men who have hunted for years claim that this is the poorest year they have ever experienced and are planning organization to seek a remedy for this situation.

The sportsmen cannot understand why Western Maryland is not given more consideration in the stocking of game when practically the entire hunting element of the state uses this section. To counteract the recent proposal of State Game Warden LeCompte that the next session of the legislature increase the price of each license by fifty cents, they point out that close to $10,000 was realized from the sale of licenses in this county alone last year and that the sale of this year's licenses is already above last year's figure.

On numerous occasions this month, parties of hunters have gone into the surrounding woods and have returned empty-handed at the end of the day claiming that their dogs did not find a thing.

The overwhelming opinion here is that unless the state game department does something in the near future to remedy this condition, a boycott on the purchase of hunting licenses will be necessary.

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE BIG LITTLE SEVEN
ONE OF the most interesting things about the game is the way that the exact size of little cards can sometimes decide the fate of a contract. Bidding can never become so exact that it can show whether a defender holding four trumps has them topped by a seven-spot or a six-spot, yet the result of your endeavor can depend upon such an apparent trifle.

In brief, you never can eliminate the uncertainty and gamble from the game, and if you could, your intelligence would make you quit playing it. What you strive for always is to become so that you take more sound gambles and fewer unsound ones.

House Renovated

The heirs of the late Rev. J. C. Powell are thoroughly renovating their residence at the corner of Schellburg and Bedford streets. Among other improvements, they have freshly papered every room in the house. It is to be occupied this week by William Jordan and family, who are vacationing apartments on Center street Delos Shaffer and family made this residence their home for several years, prior to locating recently on the Elwood Beals farm on Route 96.

Car 'Runs Away'

Because of improperly set brakes, a Chevrolet roadster owned by Ray Logsdon, took a header down steep Coal Tipple Hill late Saturday and executed a nose dive into the sand and back-water of Willis creek. No one was occupying it at the time, and strange to relate, no appreciable damage was done to the car, aside from mud and water that had to be cleaned out of the engine.

Hutton Citizens Ask New School; Pupils Refuse To Go to Crellin

Old Building Destroyed by Fire Last Year; Garrett Board Hit

HUTTON, Md., Nov. 25—An appeal for construction of a school here to replace the building which was destroyed by fire last year is sounded in a resolution passed by school patrons.

The resolution, signed by thirty-five persons and released for publication, scores the Garrett county board of education for allegedly failing to carry out a promise to construct a new building and charges that it has refused to meet with protesting citizens.

The petition also states that citizens of the community have refused to send their children to the Crellin school, as proposed by the board. Forty-one elementary pupils are said to be affected.

After the building was razed last year, the Garrett county school superintendent "persuaded" the patrons of the Hutton school to send their children by bus to the Crellin school for the remainder of the term . . . by promising . . . that during the interval, before the beginning of another school year, a new building would be erected at Hutton," according to the resolution, which adds that the building has not been provided and "it now seems apparent that there is no intention" to provide it.

The protest goes on to state that the patrons petitioned the board to hold a meeting at which they might present their claims, but the president "has so far refused to call the members of the board together to hear our petitions."

The school board has received $1200 insurance for the old building and the county commissioners have agreed to provide whatever additional funds are needed to construct and equip a new building, the petition states.

"The permanent loss of the school will work great hardship and inconvenience upon our small children who will have to be transported by bus to a school in another community," it concludes.

The document was signed by the following: Gordon R. Gank, Elmer Hauser, Paul A. Markley, Agnes Pendegast, Robert Markley, Mrs. Frank Hardesty, Wm. J. Lewis, Mrs. Clayton Slabaugh, Clayton Slabaugh, Mrs. Fred Hardesty, Mrs. Elwood Roy, F. A. Lewis, Mrs. John Durr, Lillie Hauser, Gilbert Gank, Helen Gank, Mrs. Edgie Sereno.

Bowl Bids Chief Interest in Grid Circles

Sectional Titles Settled Fans Turn To 1941 Classics

Over 240,000 Spectators Can Attend Four Contests

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—With all sectional titles either definitely settled or virtually sewed up, the question of which football teams will play in which bowls come New Year's day, 1941, becomes a matter of mounting interest and importance.

From all available information, the West-to-East lineup today shapes up this way:

Rose Bowl (capacity 90,000)—Stanford the sure-pot Western choice, even if it should lose its final game to California, Texas A. and M. the most likely "Eastern" choice, though the Aggies must beat Texas Thursday to get the bid. Conversely Stanford would prefer Minnesota, but the Western Conference won't give the Gophers a "yes" or "no" until Dec. 6 or 7.

Cotton Bowl (capacity 48,000)—Still trying for the Aggies and Tennessee, the Aggies as Southwest champions with the game under conference sponsorship for the first time. Reliable sources in Dallas say this would be the Aggies' second choice, with the Sugar Bowl, where they beat Tulane last January, virtually out of the running. If the Aggies go to the Rose Bowl, the Southwest runner-up, Southern Methodist or Rice, would be next choice, with Fordham an Eastern possibility in either case.

Sugar Bowl (capacity 70,000)—This looks most of all like Boston College against Tennessee. There has been an unofficial New Orleans boom for B. C. ever since it beat Tulane there early in the season. Even Coach Frank Leahy readily admits he expects a Sugar Bowl, and if the Eagles get by Holy Cross, a traditional toughie, on Saturday, Tennessee, which looks like a good bet against Vanderbilt the same day, isn't likely to be asked to Pasadena, where the Vols were a disappointment last New Year's day, and don't appear greatly interested in the Orange Bowl, where they beat Oklahoma in '39 Nebraska is known to be on the list of "eligibles."

Orange Bowl (capacity 34,000)—The Southern choice almost surely lies between undefeated Mississippi State, tied only by Auburn and an impressive winner over Mississippi last week end, and Alabama, beaten only by Tennessee. They meet Saturday, Prime Eastern candidates are Fordham, which dropped a close one to St. Mary's and is a strong choice to whip New York U. in its Saturday windup; Lafayette, unbeaten for the second time in four years but understood to feel it might be going too far out of its class, and Georgetown, beaten only once in 25 games and then by one point by Boston College.

Mountain State League (capacity 130,000)—BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 25 (AP)—A 130-game schedule for the Class A Mountain State Baseball League beginning next April 27 was announced today by President Ray Ryan.

Ryan, who attended a meeting of league directors at Williamson yesterday, said reports indicated the six-club league might have eight clubs in 1941, with the return of Beckley and the addition of Princeton.

By decision of the directors, each club hereafter will be allowed three class men instead of two as at present, six non-class players and six rookies.

Information from club officials indicated that only Ray French of Ashland and Eddie Hock at Logan are certain to return as managers next year. Williamson hopes to keep Harrison Wickel. Bluefield has offered a new contract to Joe Sorrell, who has not announced a decision. Huntington and Welch are the other two teams in the league.

Rotary Club League
The Davis outfit swept over the Barrows and the Koppes turned back the Happs 2-1 in Rotary Club League matches at the Central Y.M.C.A. Sharing individual honors were Dr. Davis with a 398 set and Charles L. Kopp with high game of 164. The scores:

CUBS' CHOICE - - - - - By Jack Sords

The SPORT TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The Old Professor was carrying a turkey under his arm as he bustled in to conduct his Monday morning class of football coaches. He grinned self-consciously.

Old Professor—Just a little idea of mine—a portable turkey for a portable Thanksgiving. They aren't going to catch me unprepared. As you know, gentlemen, this is the final class of 1940, so let's make it the best. What's that, Mr. Crisler? You've seen the best?

Fritz Crisler, Michigan—Yes sir, I had unbeaten teams twice at Princeton, but this once-beaten Michigan club is the best I ever had. It's truly great. How does Harmon compare with Grange? Well, I've ducked that one for a long time but I guess Tom's scoring fears speak louder than words.

Francis Schmidt, Ohio State—It's the best Michigan team we ever played. This Harmon sets up anything.

Old Professor—Quit giggling, Mr. Munder.

George Munder, Penn.—I can't help it. I'm tickled to death. It was Penn's fight that beat Cornell, a great team. Reagan did a great job.

Carl Snively, Cornell—Our boys played a great game, but were up against a great kicker.

Old Professor—I take it that Mr. Reagan took the game in his hands with his foot. Mr. Phelan, how do you spell mercy?

Jimmy Phelan, Washington—I can spell it. Honest, I hated to see the score mount but we used every one but the trainer. Those sophomore subs are big, strong boys who don't know how to hold back.

Babe Horrell, UCLA—All I can say is that Washington started rolling and it's hard to stop a team when it really rolls.

Old Professor—Mr. Neyland, what is closer than a 33 to 0 score?

Bob Neyland, Tennessee—The game, when we play Kentucky. Kirtman had a good team out there and it played a great game.

Ab Kirtman, Kentucky—We played our best game of the year. Tennessee really is good.

Old Professor—Mr. Meagher, what comes after 20 years?

Jack Meagher, Auburn—The worst beating I ever took in coaching. I guess, Boston has everything, plus O'Rourke.

Frank Leahy, Boston College—It was our best game so far this season. We were blocking better and running better.

Old Professor—Happy Mr. Waldorf?

Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern—Yes indeed, Professor. We were very happy to win that one because it's a long time between victories over Notre Dame. It was a team victory, as everyone did his job perfectly.

Old Professor—The sorry Mr. Lawrence isn't present. I guess he's still looking for those fellows who said his boys were playing under wraps. He wants to correct their spelling. It was raps last Saturday. Well, gentlemen, another day and another season. I trust I'll see you all next fall. Meanwhile, good day and good luck.

Harmon Awarded Marwell Memorial

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25 (AP)—Tommy Harmon, Michigan's great halfback, was chosen by the Maxwell Memorial Club today as the nation's No. 1 football player for 1940.

He will receive the award at the club's annual dinner here on December 17.

Nile Kinnick, of Iowa, received the award last year.

Charles Town Fall Race Meet Opens On Monday, Dec. 2

Col. John Furman Wall Makes Appearance as Steward

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 25.—On Monday, December 2, with the opening here of the Charles Town Jockey Club's 18-day Autumn meeting—the last of the year in the Eastern United States—Lieut.-Col. John Furman Wall, U. S. A. (retired) will make his initial appearance in horse racing as a Steward.

It was announced today at Charles Town that the West Virginia State Racing Commission's Steward, T. C. Bradley, and the Charles Town Jockey Club's Steward, Leslie Combs II—both of Lexington, Ky.—have selected Col. Wall as their associate.

The selection of Col. Wall has been approved by the West Virginia Commission, which consists of Beverly Brown, chairman; Carl O. Schmidt and Frank Brooke. It is believed that this appointment will be especially pleasing to Washington, Virginia and Maryland racegoers, and will cause rejoicing among the appointee's host of friends and acquaintances throughout the United States.

Col. Wall, former commandant of the United States Army's important Remount Service, ended a career of thirty years in uniform back in July, 1937. Since then, he has maintained a home in Camden, S. C., but has lived much of the time at the Army and Navy Club, Washington. He is widely known and highly respected by the Capital's racing, breeding and hunting sets, and is as much at home there as anywhere else.

Virginia is a sort of second home to Col. Wall inasmuch as he spent a number of years at Front Royal where he was in command of the Remount Depot from 1932 through 1934. There is hardly a man woman or child in Virginia connected in any manner with horse racing hunting or thoroughbred breeding who is not acquainted with him.

Distinguished Career
Distinguished as has been his career as a soldier it has by no means overshadowed his success as a writer on subjects pertaining to the horse. He is the author of "Thoroughbred Bloodlines," a monumental work of special appeal and value to breeders; of "Practical Horse Breeding" and of "A Horseman's Handbook on Practical Breeding." Well-thumbed volumes of these works are to be found on the shelves or library tables of almost every discriminating horse breeder in the United States and South America. And their author is recognized far and wide as an authority on bloodlines and as a notable judge of horses.

Indicative of the esteem in which Col. Wall long has been held by horsemen is the fact that a few among the many names of men who have helped to sponsor his work and who have co-operated with him in publishing it are these: William Woodward, Chairman of The Jockey Club; Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, head of the Pimlico and owner and trainer; Mr. Albion Dainoff, Secretary of The Jockey Club; Edward Riley Bradley, B. B. Jones Barry Shannon General Robert M. Danford William duPont breeder and builder of Delaware Park racetrack; Crispin Ogilby James Fitzsimmons R. L. Woodward Jr., George Odum, R. I. Gerry, Christopher J. Fitzgerald, Janon Fisher, Jr., president of the Maryland Breeders' Association, and Major Louis A. Beard, all leaders in racing and breeding.

Col. Wall, now in his early fifties, is a native of South Carolina, from which state he was appointed to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1907. He graduated from "The Point" in 1911 and began his military career that year in the First Cavalry. Throughout his thirty years in the service, he served continuously as a Cavalry officer although on numerous occasions he was detached from that branch and assigned to special duty in other branches.

At various stages of his career in the service, he was stationed in Idaho, California, Kansas, North Carolina, Texas, Kentucky, Washington, D. C., Virginia, the Philippines, Wyoming and Oklahoma. Late in the World war, he was ordered to France. He is a graduate of the Army's Command and General Staff School, of its Cavalry School, and of its Student Army Industrial College. Between 1930-1935, the Industrial College's personnel, including Col. Wall, wrote most of the plan for industrial and man mobilization now in use.

Organized Cavalry
While in the service, Col. Wall organized the Cavalry, Infantry and Field Artillery units for the Idaho National Guard; and was instructor in charge of the Cavalry National Guard of North Carolina. He served as Senior Instructor for Alabama, North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee and Louisiana, and, on his final assignment in the service, was Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth.

Throughout his thirty years in the service, Col. Wall played polo, sponsored the game at various posts, and helped to organize horse shows, among them the now famous Ironquols Club show at Lexington, Ky. While in the Remount Service, Col. Wall wrote the policies for that branch of the army, and travelled extensively to racetracks and breeding farms throughout the country. He purchased many stallions and broodmares for the Army, and through his friendship with breeders, obtained many gift stallions. Bradley alone presented to the service, through Col. Wall, more than thirty stallions.

A keen student of horses, and of racing, Col. Wall has been engaged since his retirement in studying racing and breeding, and in serving in an advisory capacity to breeders in various sections of the United States. He has engaged in buying for prominent breeders, and last year, at Holly Beach Farm, near Annapolis, Md., managed the stallion, imported Quatro Bras II, for Walter Chrysler, S. W. Labrot and C. W. Williams. For many years, he has judged important horse shows, and has served in official capacities at numerous horse racing meetings.

Because of his background, his training and his vast knowledge of breeding, racing and riding, Col. Wall is expected to make a notable addition to the ranks of American racing officials. The Charles Town Jockey Club feels that with Col. Wall, Combs and Bradley in its Stewards' stand, it will present an array of officials second to none in the country, and that through them it can guarantee efficient, impartial and judicious regulation of the sport it sponsors.

A FIGHTER AND HIS TITLE HOPES KNOCKED KICKING

After two previous knockdowns, Pete Lello of Chicago flops crazily to the canvas in New York for his third trip, and thereby ends whatever hopes he held of winning the world's lightweight title from Lew Jenkins, Sweetwater, Texas, cowboy. After this knockdown, the referee stopped the fight. Boxing records show that in their last encounter, before Jenkins gained the title Lello knocked Jenkins out.

Gabby Hartnett's Name Linked With New York "Farm"

International League in Session Re-Elects Shaughnessy

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 25 (AP)—The name of Gabby Hartnett, recently deposed as manager of the Chicago Cubs, was linked today in corridor gossip at the International League directors' meeting to the vacancy at the helm of the Jersey City Giants.

One of the four vacant International loop managerial posts was filled with the announcement of the Toronto management that Russell "Lena" Blackburne former White Sox manager, would pilot the club in 1941.

Meanwhile, the league officials decided to reduce the playing schedule next year from 161 to 154 games, voted to retain the governor's cup playoffs and re-elected President Frank M. "Shag" Shaughnessy to a three-year term.

Besides the grapevine report that Hartnett has the inside track on the Jersey City post, the names of Benny Borgemann, former Sacramento pilot, and George Uhle, one-time major league pitcher and more recently coach of the Cubs under Hartnett, were mentioned for the Syracuse and Buffalo managements, respectively.

Pennsylvania Is Not Interested in Bowls

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25 (AP)—Pennsylvania's football team, beaten only by Michigan, will not play in any post-season "bowl" game. "We are not permitted to play post-season football," H. Jamison Swartz, graduate manager of athletics, declared today.

"This was one of the Cardinal points of the athletic plan originated by Dr. Thomas S. Gates after he became president of the university. Because of the Gates plan we were obliged to decline a Rose Bowl bid by Washington in 1936."

Swartz said he had rejected "feeler" bids for the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans and the Orange Bowl game at Miami.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 25 (AP)—Oscar Vitt, released as manager of the Cleveland Indians, is back on the baseball warpath again, this time as pilot of the Portland club in the Pacific Coast League.

Club President E. J. Scheffer announced last night that the man who piloted Cleveland on second place in the American League last year and then was fired had signed a one-year contract shortly after arriving here from his Oakland, Calif., home.

Salary terms were not announced, but Vitt said he was "well satisfied." There was talk the contract called for around $10,000.

"I had to take back my retirement talk after Mr. Scheffer made me a proposition I couldn't refuse," he said. "I have always liked to win, and still do, and with the tieup I advised, we will get the players to make the Beavers winners."

Divinity Student Sets New Record In Cross Country

Gilbert Dodds of Ashland, O., College Captures National Event

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 25 (AP)—Gilbert Dodds, a 22-year-old divinity student at tiny Ashland, O., College, won the individual title with a record breaking performance today in the third annual national collegiate cross country meet. The team championship went to University of Indiana, holder of the western conference barrier title.

Dodds, a senior from a school of fewer than 500 students, finished more than 30 yards ahead of Oliver Hunter, of Notre Dame, in winning his first major title in three years of track competition. His time for the four mile event was 20:30.2, seven-tenths of a second faster than the mark set by Walter Mehl, of Wisconsin, over the same course in 1939. Dodds ran over a heavy, muddy course.

Pressing Hunter for second place was Tom Fields of Maryland.

Indiana placed four men in the first 11 men. Indiana totaled 65 points. Michigan normal was second with 68 points. Rhode Island State, victor in the I

Aggies Worry Grain Will Make Headlines

Texas Cowboy Is Expected To Come To Life Thursday

Flared University Star Has Been Threat and Fail For Other Backs

By Felix R. McKnight

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 25 (AP)—Cowboy Jack Crain hasn't rocked the countryside with a headline explosion in a month now—and the Texas Aggies are worried.

The stumpy, bass-voiced west Texan, the sophomore of 1939 whose bowlegs swept to eight touchdowns for an average of fifty-six yards on each run, will be ready Thursday at Austin when the mighty Texas Aggies face University of Texas.

To the Aggies victory means everything—second straight unbeaten season and Southwest Conference title, Rose Bowl possibilities, twentieth successive triumph.

The man these Aggies fear is Jack Crain. True, Crain has not been hogging the headlines of late, but even while he was playing with a badly bruised hip and shoulder, Jack Crain has been playing good football.

He has carried the ball sixty-nine times for 349 yards and an average of 3.55 yards. He leads his team in pass interceptions—six for a total yardage on returns of 147 yards. He has a swell punting average of 37.87 yards. And he has scored twenty-three points.

But behind these cold figures, there is another story. The old id story.

The Cowboy is marked. He might as well be wearing a flaming red shirt.

Graciously Crain has taken on the "Mr. X" burden and has been doing quite a lot of team playing while the enemy was dogging him.

When Jack Crain fakes a sweep, fullback Pete Layden or some other trusty back usually shoots through sapling holes for good gains.

The Baylor game is a good example of Jack Crain's play. He gained forty-two yards on punt returns, thirty-five yards on runback of an intercepted pass, seventy-five yards of kickoff returns and thirty-seven yards from scrimmage; punted for thirty-eight yard average.

Cowboy Jack Crain's name was not in the eight-column banner headlines the next day, but he shook 189 yards out of the Baylor team, besides being the big threat.

That's what worries the Texas Aggies.

Don McNeill Annexes Argentine Net Title

Buenos Aires, Nov. 25 (AP)—Don McNeill, of Oklahoma City, United States national champion, added the Argentine tennis title to his collection yesterday by beating Elwood Cooke, of Portland, Ore.

The match went five sets before a decision was reached, 8-6, 4-6, 4-6, 6-0, 6-3.

The visiting United States stars completed a clean sweep when Dorothy May Bundy, of Santa Monica, Calif., and Cooke's bride, the former Sarah Palfrey, of Boston, captured the women's doubles crown, 6-0, 6-3, from Jane Stanton, of Santa Monica, and Felisa Piedrola, of Argentina.

More Midweek Notes On Football Events

Released by North American Newspaper Alliance

By JOHN LARDNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Midweek football notes on, through Sing Sing's walls with pick and shovel. The All-America itch, the only thing from which does are safe in this country has settled upon the land, but your correspondent will resist it stoutly. It's my belief that no living man is qualified to pick an All-America team, even with the aid of far-flung scouts and observers. He can judge only by what he sees, and the same applies to his scout in section B, and nineteen times out of twenty he has no way of telling whether one scout's candidate is better than another's.

Eschewing such folly, the best the picker can do is make certain nominations from his own experience. You agent saw fourteen college teams in action this autumn. Of the players on those teams, the following might qualify for All-America consideration:

Ends—Kelley, Cornell; Fritz, Michigan; Bartholomew, Yale. Tackles—Kuzman, Fordham; Yard, Pennsylvania.

Center—Stavely, Columbia. Backs—Harmon, Michigan; Eshmont, Fordham; and Allardice, Princeton.

Among these nominations, Harmon and Stavely would be starting, and Eshmont and Kelley would follow close behind. That's all I can say.

I meant to have Texas A. and M. scouted, but my scouts, Hymie Caplan, was in custody.

A team to watch in the future is Florida, under new coaching.

The Gators fired the warning signal this year by licking Georgia and Georgia Tech.

Low Jenkins, the lightweight champion, and Samuel Baugh, the slinger, are fellow citizens of Sweetwater, Texas, and Mr. Jenkins yields to no man in his admiration of Mr. Baugh—up to a point. But you can't tell Lewis that Baugh is a better passer than the champion's young brother, Ernest Jenkins, aged 15.

"Ernest will out-pass Baugh if he goes to college," says Mr. Jenkins. "If he goes in for fighting instead he will out-fight me, though that don't seem hardly possible."

With bated breath, the football world awaits the sound of the first shot to be fired at Coach Francis Schmidt, of Ohio State, by a downtown quarterback in Columbus, Ohio. It should happen any minute, for the downtown quarterbacks are afraid that if they don't start firing quickly, the university will beat them to it by firing Snively.

There are many sure-shot kicking specialists, or "one-play" men, in football. Harvard has the one play man with the best name, Henry G. Vander EB, who was roundly kissed by Coach Richard Cresson Harlow after leaving the Yale contest with a record of three for three.

One lone rule change could make college football 25 per cent more exciting for the customer—viz., adoption of the pro rule which says that the runner is not down till the whistle blows. The college ball-carrier is officially down the moment either knee touches the ground. The pro goes on and on. Nothing intoxicates the spectator like the sort of run Tuffy Leemans made for the Giants against the Washington Redskins Sunday—his nose in the dirt with two men on him, then up again for another ten yards, then down again and up again, then a brief pause for a boxing contest in the coffin corner, then over for the touchdown.

Texas sources still insist that if Texas A. and M. fails to get a Rose Bowl invitation, they will patronize local industry by appearing in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas—which would leave the Sugar Bowl available to Boston College and Tennessee, and a good game, too.

Romney Expects Another Strong Eleven Next Year

Only Five of 39 on Squad To Graduate--Eight Regulars Back

ROMNEY, W. Va., Nov. 25.—With only five of his 1940 squad of 39 scheduled for graduation next spring, Coach Bob Kyle expects to place another high-caliber football team on the field next year when Romney High will be defending the Potomac Valley Conference championship.

Four of the boys who will be missing are lettermen, three of them regulars the past campaign. Although Paul Harmon, Harwell Thompson and Robert Singhass will be missed, Coach Kyle has good replacements in Vernon Ely, Bob Whitford, Ken Martin and Deniz Keister, ends, and Junior Fisher and Charlie Parsons, guards.

The other two who will graduate are Max McKee and Elmer Sanders, but Kyle already is grooming Randolph Ewers and Carl Pownall to take over.

Harmon and Singhass held down end positions, Thompson was a guard, McKee a tackle and Sanders a center. Harmon won letters the past four years and called signals as a senior. Singhass, tough on the defense, developed into a good pass receiver while Thompson is scrappy and a good blocker.

Twelve Lettermen Return

Of the 34 who will again don Romney uniforms next fall, 12 will be lettermen with eight of this number regulars for at least one year.

First-stringers who will return are John Sietor and Frank Lewis, tackles; Jim Wagoner, guard; Ray McDonald, center; Jim Aikie and Bill Milleson, halfbacks; George Heavner, fullback; and Loudon Thompson, quarterback.

Thus, the backfield which rolled up 140 points in winning seven of eight games will return intact. In the conference, Romney captured five straight battles and kept its goal uncrossed. The only team to score on the locals was Charles Town's Purple Panthers, who also spoiled what would have been a perfect season with a 20-0 victory.

Coach Kyle believes his team had no outstanding stars although at times some of the boys stood out a little more than the others. The eleven was well-balanced with all of the players playing the game for the game's sake.

Milleson Top Scorer

Supporters of the school, who reached a new high in enthusiasm and interest, plan to award all lettermen with moleskin jackets. In addition, the conference trophy will be kept by Romney for one year. Keyser, Ridgeley, Parsons and Romney each have a leg on the three-year prize.

The locals opened with an 18-0 victory over Berkeley Springs but lost to Charles Town 20-0 in their second start. After that, the opposition went on a goose-egg diet with Franklin bowing 45-0, Petersburg 31-0, Moorefield 7-0, Keyser 14-0, Ridgeley 6-0 and Berkeley Springs for the second time 19-0.

Milleson was the team's leading scorer with 36 points, 30 in the conference. The rest of the individual scoring with total for the season listed first and conference total second, follows:

Heavner, 32 and 26; Charley Oates, 19 and 13; Aikie, 14 and 14; Thompson, 14 and 1; Harmon, 7 and 1; Ralph Hott, 6 and 6; Singhass, 6 and 6, and Ivan Shanholter, 6 and 6.

AS PENNSYLVANIA CONQUERED CORNELL, 22-20

Matusczek, of Cornell, has just caught a pass good for a fifteen-yard gain and is set to travel. Allen (11), of Pennsylvania, goes for the receiver and Kelly (83), of Cornell, goes for Allen. Penn, however, came from behind to complete Cornell's downfall, winning by a score of 22 to 20 before a roaring crowd of 79,935 at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

(Released by North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Minnesota's Norsemen accomplished something more than making a clean sweep. They hurdled one of the roughest assignments in football—that of getting ready for a hard game in September and then holding this winning form through the final game in November. Minnesota had to be ready for Washington and Nebraska in her two starting contests. Washington and Nebraska are among the stronger teams from any sector.

Minnesota had a terrific battle on her hands through almost every start. There was no spot for even a brief recess, especially against Washington, Nebraska, Northwestern, Ohio State and Michigan—and later against Wisconsin. As our scouts have told us before, there is practically no difference in the strength of Minnesota, Michigan and Northwestern, all three exceptionally strong teams—the strongest any single sector can show, with something to spare.

But it was Minnesota which carried all the way through and overlooked nothing on the road to victory through the hardest schedule played all year.

Only an exceptional team could have turned in such a job.

Harmon and Grange

They are still talking about the comparative greatness of Tommy Harmon and Red Grange. Harmon outweighs Grange by twenty pounds—195 to 175. Harmon is faster on the straightaway. He also packs more driving power.

The Wolverine is a better kicker. As a ball carrier he isn't as elusive as the galloping ghost used to be, once by the line of scrimmage.

Grange in the open was harder to reach, one of the most elusive swirls of human flesh football has ever known. They are about even as forward passers—both good, but neither brilliant. Harmon is the better defensive back, but this is hardly fair judgment as Grange usually played in the safety spot.

It isn't easy to compare players who work fifteen years apart, as Bob Zuppke told me, "there are many fine football players. Only a few have been what I call terrific. Grange and Harmon both belong to this class."

Enter J. Kimbrough

You can't make the unbounded sweeps of the great southwest believe that either is better than big John Kimbrough, the 225-pound steam-roller from Texas A. and M. Kimbrough has a final college test to meet on Thursday against Texas.

He carries more line-smashing power than either, but he isn't as fast or as dangerous in the open.

He is a better defensive player than either, although Harmon is first-class in this respect. Kimbrough is sure of another chance in one of the big bowls—probably the Rose—while Harmon will play in the Shrine's east-west game in San Francisco.

Attendance Angles

Football crowds have proved this fall that winning teams are not always needed to lure out the populace. For example both Cornell and Pennsylvania had been beaten, yet they put on their show before 80,000 spectators, with more than 20,000 turned away.

Cornell and Pennsylvania easily could have played to more than 100,000. Ohio State, beaten many times, drew over 73,000 against Michigan, with Harmon the main card.

Harvard and Yale, with two spotty seasons, fought before a crowd of 47,000. I understand that Notre Dame and Southern California, with two of their worst records, will exhibit their wares before more than 80,000 in Los Angeles. Army and Notre Dame, in spite of Army's worst season, had their stands packed with 78,000 spectators.

Those who believed pro football ultimately will take away interest from the college play might look over these figures. The pros have had a big year. They have deserved their crowns. But they are still far behind the college call.

There is no need to worry about the future of college football, as far as public interest goes. When you can look at such games as Boston College and Georgetown, or Cornell and Pennsylvania, you can't see any greater thrills.

In these two games the winners score 41 points, the losers 38, the spirit of pro play has increased. But the spirit of college play is one of its finest features where underdogs often make up physical deficits with desperation.

Come-Backs

The unbeaten are not the only interesting exhibits this fall. The stirring come-backs of Dartmouth and Harvard belong to the book. Blaik and Harlow had green banners for their starting games. But they both finished with a rush, with two teams capable of facing any type of competition.

In the same way North Carolina, beaten four times, retrieved her season with a victory over Duke in another major upset. There is a vast difference when it comes to starting your season with veteran material. Neither Dartmouth nor Harvard had this happy opportunity. They had to find themselves before the main November test—and both did.

Lou Little did the same for Columbia. Only a few, with the needed material, can win them all. And don't forget they need the material to steam along united and unbeaten.

Charlie Grimm Is Named Cubs' Coach

CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (AP)—Charlie Grimm, former manager of the team, signed as a coach with the Chicago Cubs today.

The Cub general manager, James Gallagher, said Grimm came to terms after talking with the Cub manager, Jimmy Wilson. Grimm was replaced as Cub pilot in July, 1938, when Gabby Hartnett took charge. Wilson, who succeeded Hartnett recently, already had selected Dick Spalding of Philadelphia as one of his two member coaching staff.

Canadian Net Star and New Jersey Youth Die in Training Plane Crash

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 25 (AP)—Two Royal Canadian air force men, Lewis Duff, 23, sixth-ranking Canadian tennis player who learned much of his game at the University of Miami, Florida, and John Higginbotham, 23, of South Orange, N. J., were killed today in the collision of their training planes near here. Both were classed as leading air craftsmen.

The school commandant said Duff and Higginbotham were preparing to land when their machines collided at an altitude of 500 feet. They locked and crashed together.

Paw Paw's Quint Opens Thursday Against Alumni

Coach Swisher Hampered By Lacking Experienced Material

PAW PAW, W. Va., Nov. 25—Hampered by a lack of experienced players, Coach Arnet Swisher has been pushing basketball drills at Paw Paw High School in preparation for the opening game with a strong Alumni quintet next Thursday night.

The squad includes only three newcomers but this trio should go toward giving Paw Paw a successful season. Heading the veterans are Raymond Robertson, center who plays six feet, three inches, and Vernon Ambrose, six-foot guard.

Robertson was one of the team's leading scorers last winter and is starting his third year as a regular. Ambrose has been a starter for the past two seasons. The other hold-over is Johnny Clark, another six-footer who plays forward.

Promising Newcomers

Swisher reports many of the boys expected back have either dropped out of school or are ill. However, a promising crop of newcomers will help to offset this misfortune.

Those who reported for the first time are Frank Rouze, Pete Guhr, Mike Larkin, Warren Parr, Clifton Lewis, Wilson Largent, "Bud" Larkin, Sidney Funkhouser, Jesse Sherwood, "Bud" Herrell, John Ambrose and Roland Taylor.

Guhr gained quite a reputation on the diamond last spring when he won the second-base job on the Tri-State baseball Conference All-Star team. Mike Larkin is fast and was impressive as a member of an independent quintet last year.

15 Games Scheduled

Fifteen games have been scheduled for the locals including home-and-home tilts with Wardensville, West Ashby, Capon Bridge, Berkeley Springs, Elk Garden, Hedgesville and Romney. One open date appears on the slate.

The Alumni will be captained by Charles Robey. Other former Paw Paw players expected to oppose the visitors are Jack Arnica, "Pud" McCone, Mel Bohrer, "Bee" Rockwell and Jimmy Rouze. The schedule:

Nov. 28—Alumni, home.
Dec. 2—Wardensville, away.
Dec. 10—Wardensville, home.
Dec. 12—Port Ashby, home.

The Kelly-Springfield League race became a close affair last week when the Aircorps grabbed a one-game lead over the Registered by upsetting the previous pace-setters 2-0 at the Club.

The Camel Backs, who bowed 2-1 to the Commercial, and the Kant Slips, who took three from the Kellys, are tied for third only two games behind the Aircorps while the Stops, who dropped a pair to the Sure Stops, are three games out of first place.

The Aircorps, in surging into the No. 1 slot, broke the set record of 2,840 held by the Registered with 2,643. Setting the pace was Miller with 195-535 and Hudak with 185-499.

Burns had 469 for the Sure Stops, Blummer 457 for the Buckeyes, Bible 428 for the Commercial, Steiner 411 for the Camel Backs, Radcliffe 409 for the Registered, Cunningham 409 for the Kant Slips and Robertson 405 for the Kellys. The scores:

Girls' Cage Clinic at Fort Hill Tonight

The second annual clinic to provide an opportunity for local and national rating of women basketball officials will be held this evening at 7:30 at Fort Hill High School under the sponsorship of the Western Maryland division of the National Section of Women's Athletes.

From the prehistoric to the present day and we find that bowling, a first an outdoor sport and now probably the most popular indoor sport, has progressed through the years until today there are 50,000 bowling alleys in the United States, representing an outlay of $80,000,000.

According to some bowling historians, the game of lawn bowls, as it was first known, had a hectic time in the early days of Edward III of England, who tried to curb the game in the fourteenth century. A century later Henry VIII of England made it unlawful for anyone to maintain a bowling establishment for gain.

A Religious Ceremony

Even in the United States, the game of nine pins, as it was called, was banned. It was a "wicked waste of time" to many in the nineteenth century. But today, governors, state officials, sports celebrities, housewives and little Johnny can be found in bowling alleys, making their strikes and spares.

According to Frank Menke, the noted sports record authority, bowling originated as a religious ceremony, not from lawn bowling.

Friend Menke takes his notes from a book written on bowling by Wilhelm Phele, a German, more than forty years ago. His story goes like this:

In ancient Germany it was the custom to carry a "pin," shaped like the modern Indian club, to be used for several purposes, including the exercising of the wrists.

The German word for pin was "keil," meaning a pin, or a wedge, and is from the same derivation as "kegel," which means bowl, the Germans always referring to a bowler as a "Kegler."

Dutch Introduced It

First bowling, according to the chronicler, was done in the cloisters of cathedrals, it being the custom of the canons to have parishioners, in turn, place their pins at one end of the cloister. This represented the "heide," meaning heathen. The parishioner then was given a ball, and asked to throw it at the "heide." If a hit was scored it indicated that the thrower was leading a clean and pure life and was capable of slaying the heathen.

All of this, according to the historian, had its origin as far back as the third or fourth century.

The Dutch introduced bowling to the United States. Bowling gained in popularity until along about 1840 in New York, when gamblers took hold and the ninepin game was virtually barred.

In September, 1885, the American Bowling congress was organized for the prime purpose of reviving bowling as a ten-pin sport. In 1901 the American Bowling congress conducted its first national tournament. The entries totaled 41 five-man teams and 116 individuals.

Why It Is Popular

Thus has bowling become the favorite fall and winter sport of all Americans, son, daughter, mother and father.

Bowling this year is even more popular. Why?

Well, it is a clean, competitive sport where one and all have equal chance. You need not be a 210-pounder to play the line.

It is an individual game where the average player never reaches perfection, but finds perfection is there if he can attain it.

It is a sport for all. It is democratic. It is exercise. It improves good fellowship. It makes friends. It is social. It inspires good will. Above all, it gives the fellow who always is the sports spectator and

Woman Who Tripped on Pop Bottle at Fair Is Awarded $1,500 Verdict

Jury Finds in Favor of Mrs. Juanita M. Gallen against Cumberland Fair Association

A Cumberland woman yesterday was awarded a $1,500 judgment against the Cumberland Fair Association for injuries she claims she received when she tripped over a pop bottle.

It required a circuit court jury almost two hours and a half to arrive at its verdict awarding the cash to Mrs. Juanita M. Gallen, of 328 Beall street.

The accident occurred on Cumberland Day 1939 at Fairgo, testimony revealed. It was Mrs. Gallen's first visit to the track. Fairgo was packed with racing fans. The plaintiff said her upset occurred during the last race. She was standing in the enclosure in the vicinity of the center steps leading to the grandstand.

Tripped on Bottle
When the horses came around the far turn and raced down the home stretch, Mrs. Gallen claims, that in the excitement, she stepped back to get a clear view of the winners. She tripped on the bottle and fell, she told the jury.

Mrs. Gallen said her husband, Paul L. Gallen, assisted her to the Fair Association's first aid station. Her left knee was injured, she said. Since that time, she testified she has been unable to do routine housework and that she is unable to walk without the support of a cane and knee-brace. Chronic pains in other parts of her body have their origin in the injured knee, she said.

Mrs. Gallen, the plaintiff's husband, testified that he noted the presence of a heap of empty pop bottles in front of the grandstand early in the afternoon. The bottles were not removed by fair employees, he said.

Cleanup Crews Testify
Some eight defense witnesses including cleanup men at the fairgrounds testified that the grounds in front of the grandstand had been cleared of empty bottles and other debris after every race on Cumberland Day.

When the horses went to the post and the crowd surged out into the enclosure, workers said they cleaned up the betting ring under the grandstand. When the race was over and the crowd surged back (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

Red Cross Reports 4,251 Memberships

Hope To Reach Quota of 6,000; $5,630 in Cash Is Received

Cash contributions to the annual Red Cross Roll Call in Allegany county yesterday amounted to $5,630.81, Mrs. Sonerville Nicholson, treasurer, reported.

A total of 4,251 members have been enrolled in the campaign thus far. This figure is 1,749 memberships less than the quota of 6,000 set for Allegany county but reports are yet to be received from Frostburg, Westernport and Lonaconing where the quota has been fixed at 1,100 members.

Of the amount in cash received to date, Mrs. Nicholson announces that $2,182.76 will be turned over to national headquarters in Washington, D. C., while $3,448.05 will remain here for county use.

The amount collected in Cumberland so far is $500 above the total contributions received here in 1939. Last year $5,073.96 was collected here. National headquarters received $1,794.25 and $3,278.71 remained here.

Railway Constructs New Platform for Unloading of Meat

Construction of a covered platform for the unloading of meat from refrigerator cars near the Western Maryland Railway depot on Canal street is nearing completion, company officials announced yesterday.

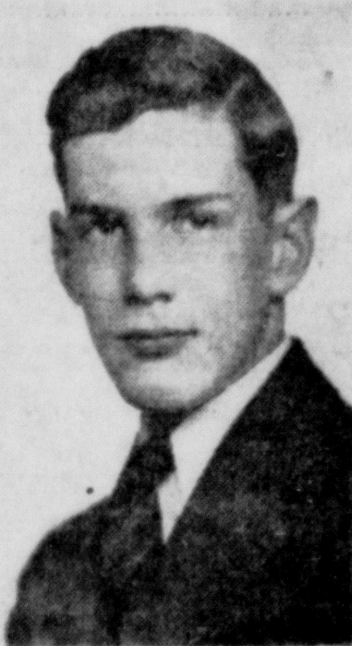

The platform is 60 feet long and 8 feet wide and adjoins the spur track below the station.

Increased business necessitated construction of the new structure, company officials said.

The first of the new mallet type locomotives to be placed in service on the Elkins division of the Western Maryland railway is expected to arrive at the Maryland Junction shops in Ridgeley next week.

Test runs will be made on Williamsport hill, east of Hagerstown, to take what railroaders describe as "bugs" out of them before they are put in use on the mountainous Elkins division. The length of the new locomotives is 107 feet.

Lecture Is Scheduled

Citizen Firemen Enroll In LaVale Chief's Course

Sixty-Five Sign Up for Chief R. J. Snyder's 'Winter Term'

Chief R. J. Snyder, of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department, is a busy man these days.

Right now he has his hands full with what he calls a new home, taking care of his trucking business and organizing two courses of instruction for citizen firemen.

Two courses, 25-weeks and 23-weeks long respectively, are considered important by LaVale firemen not only due to the fact that such classes insure greater safety for LaVale area homes but also for the reason that such instruction is vital in any national defense program.

"Well-trained firemen are key figures in a national defense program," Chief Snyder said last night. "And well-trained firemen are key figures in their community any time they know what to do when an emergency arises. The more we have of 'em the better. Of course, this program was set up originally for the purpose of training better firemen. That was before national defense was ever thought of."

Chief Snyder expects to have 50 students in his basic course for beginners which will include enrollees from Hyndman, Corningville, Cresaptown and LaVale. A number of the students in this class will be members of the LaVale reserve firemen's corps and are young men between 18 and 21.

The basic course taught by Chief Snyder lasts 25 weeks. The class meets once a week each Tuesday night and the class period starts promptly at 6:30 o'clock and lasts from two-and-a-half to three hours. The classes include sixteen indoor sessions and nine outdoor sessions. Graduates of the basic course finish with a thorough knowledge of the use and care of fire-fighting equipment and a general knowledge of fire-fighting methods.

The advance course, as the name would indicate, is for students who have completed the basic course. Fifteen students have enrolled so far this "term." The students are gathered in from Mt. Savage, Cresaptown, Corningville, Grantsville and LaVale.

Work Problems
This course lasts for 23 weeks and the students spend a good share of their time working fire-fighting problems. Many of these problems are mighty tough.

Graduates of the advance course really know their stuff and can be counted on to efficiently handle any problem likely to arise in their territory.

Chief Snyder admitted it was a great source of satisfaction to know that a community is well-stocked with men who can be counted upon to do the right thing when a fire breaks out.

While Chief Snyder denied that his motto was "A Fireman in Every Home," he admitted it was a good idea.

Farmers Take Course
"We try to impress men with the fact that they should be gentlemen when the necessity arises for their going into a home to fight a fire," Chief Snyder said. "Raw recruits, while they have the best intentions in the world, often cause much unnecessary damage. Well-trained men do not do this."

Chief Snyder said he was gratified to note that more and more farmers are signing up for his winter courses.

"This is a good thing," he commented. "These men make good firemen. And once they learn a few basic principles they frequently look around their own places and come to the conclusion a fire company couldn't do much for them in case of emergency. This sometimes results in their building dams or taking steps to provide an adequate water supply in case of trouble."

A "victory" assembly was held yesterday morning at Fort Hill high school to celebrate the school's win over Allegany in the Turkey day game and the winning of the Cumberland Valley Athletic League championship.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, praised the team's record and commended the group for being able to let their judgment control their emotions, declaring that this is the test of a good American.

Victor D. Heisey, principal, congratulated Coach John J. Long and the team. Captain Eugene McGill talked on the cooperation among team members. Coach Long spoke of the team's fine spirit and the high calibre of the boys.

Cheers and singing were intermingled among the talks.

The air-brush method is used extensively in the commercial field and is of interest to persons wishing to make their own Christmas cards.

A costumed model will pose during the sketching period and persons interested are asked to bring their own materials.

This is the first of a series of meetings planned by the league, organized earlier this week.

Borror Released Under $2,000 Bond From County Jail

Investigation Is Continued in Mystery Death of Lyle Newhouse

Luther Borror, of 256 St. Cloud street, Keyser, W. Va., who had been held in the county jail since Thursday for questioning in the death of Lyle Newhouse, 24, of Keyser, W. Va., was released yesterday under $2,000 bond as a material witness in the case.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris agreed to the action at a hearing before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce Jr. Borror was represented by Attorneys Edward J. Ryan, this city, and H. J. Athey, of Keyser, W. Va.

Bond was furnished for Borror by Jacob H. Kile, a resident of Allegany county, whose mail address is R. D. No. 3, Keyser, W. Va.

County authorities said there were indications of "foul play," with Newhouse's death being attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage caused by a heavy blow at the base of the skull. There were no other marks on the body. Other evidence near the body also tended to support the theory that Newhouse was slain.
